

Gordon Wikle

Gordon's practice focuses on the area of commercial litigation. Prior to joining Venn Law Group, Gordon served the past 14 years as an assistant district attorney with the State of North Carolina. His favorite part of practicing law is analyzing problems and finding creative solutions. He believes that any successful endeavor requires 1) putting the best systems in place and 2) knowing that when working with people, it will always be more complicated than simply finding the right system. His experience in the courtroom dealing with difficult situations and his ability to identify the root problem and find a solution is an invaluable asset for his clients.
